Nissan India launches green initiative

Nissan India has launched an environment protection initiative at its plant in Chennai to support nearby villages in conserving water bodies, reducing pollution and raising living conditions. This involves Miyawaki tree planting around the village of Vallakottai to create more greenery around the lakes and strengthen bunds.

Nissan said it will also decompose garbage through specialized equipment, which will reduce the volume of garbage in the area by a factor of 300. This will also help to prevent air, water and soil pollution, improve the air quality, and generate additional income for the villagers at Vallakottai.

The company will also work to recharge groundwater and build up the water table in the area and enable the growth of flora and fauna, it said. TNN
